

THE MORNING PAPER

The Morning Paper was formed in Malmo, Sweden in 2004 by David Kyhlberg. A 4 track CD was soon recorded and spread in different directions. The London based club and label Club AC30 showed interest and released the song Charades on a split single in 2005. In the summer of 2007 a 3 track single was released on the Florida based Cloudberry Records.

Sweeping across urbanity and nature, with humble movements and delicate voices, The Morning Paper is best read in terms of dusk and dawn. Being in the same room as The Morning Paper means being a part of a gentle-colored scenery; memories, hopes, failures, suns rising up and suns falling down – all these things gather up in a gallery of sentiments, a gallery of heartfelt musical maps. These sounds and melodies can be described as melancholic, but they are also sounds of hope and joy. The Morning Paper takes inspiration from the daily life, from day-dreams, longing and summer haze.

When making music, David collaborates with Ida Bergstrom and Karl Daniel Tornkvist. They are both a part of the fellow band The Bridal Shop. Ida sings on some tracks and her voice is sampled to others. The singing on The Morning Paper song Count Me Out is for example sampled from the song Bay The Moon by The Bridal Shop. Ida and Karl Daniel are both a part of The Morning Paper live setting.
